A STUDY OF SALARIES PAID THE TEACHING FACULTY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, THE FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY, AND THE
DURING THE FISCAL YEAR 1960 - 1961*
(REVISED)

This is the ninth annual report made by the Office of Institutional Research and Service for the public universities of Florida. This report for the first time includes salary information pertaining to the

Included in this study is an analysis of the salaries paid the teaching faculties at the University of Florida and the University of South Florida. The findings are reported in four sections: (1) Section I, Employment; (2) Section II, Salaries Paid Teaching Faculties on 10-Month Employment; (3) Section III, Summer Session; and (4) Section IV, Total Earnings of 10-Month Teaching Faculties Who in Addition to the

In comparing the results of this analysis for the various institutions the reader is urged to avoid misinterpretation. At the University of Florida the great majority of new teaching personnel are employed on a 12-month basis. At the Florida State University all of the teaching faculties at the Florida State University were converted to a 10-month basis just beginning instructional operations in the fall of 1960, occupies an intermediate position. These facts are made clear by the following summary statements concerning the situations in the respective

- a. At the University of Florida 76 per cent of the teaching faculties are employed on a 12-month basis.
- b. At the Florida State University 98 per cent of the teaching faculties are employed on a 12-month basis.
- c. At the University of South Florida 85 per cent of the teaching faculties are employed on a 12-month basis.

Because of these different employment practices it is difficult to make meaningful comparisons among the three institutions. The results tend to be misleading. THUS THE READER IS AGAIN URGED TO AVOID MISINTERPRETATION OF DATA IN THE TABLES WHICH FOLLOW IN THIS REPORT.

*The raw data for this study were obtained from the operating budgets of the respective universities with positions allocated in the respective budgets, not in all cases the exact salaries including other that contract supplements to faculty salaries are not included in this analysis.

great majority of new teaching personnel are employed on a 10-month basis but a substantial service remain on a 12-month basis of employment. On July 1, 1957, the salaries of practically iversity were converted to a 10-month basis. The University of South Florida, a new institution of 1960, occupies an intermediate position with regard to 10-month and 12-month employment. These ents concerning the situations in the respective institutions during the fiscal year 1960-1961:

the teaching faculties are employed on a 10-month basis and 24 per cent are employed

This study includes only regular, full-time instructional staff employed on a 12-month basis. Faculty, ROTC, AROTC, or personnel in the College of Engineering, the College of Law, the College of Business Administration, or the College of Education are not included. Teachers with salaries from two instructional agencies have been assigned to the agency paying the higher salary. If the teacher's primary agency is non-instructional, the teacher is assigned to the instructional agency. If two instructional agencies are listed, the teacher is assigned to the first agency in which his name appears in the budget.

This study includes only regular, full-time instructional staff employed on a 10-month basis. It was not possible to identify all such persons, but it is felt that those included are representative of the professors, part-time faculty, ROTC, AROTC, or personnel in the College of Engineering, Yonge Laboratory School. Teachers with salaries from two instructional agencies have been assigned to the first agency. If one of the agencies is non-instructional the teacher is assigned to the instructional agency. If a teacher is assigned to the first agency in which his name appears in the list, the salary is assigned to that agency.
